THE NEWSPAPER OF LARGEST CIRCULATION IN THE EVERGLADES AND LAKE OKEECHOBEE REGION

$2.50 A YEAR

The Glades And Its Affairs

Lawrence T. McGee, a West Palm Beach attorney who has an office in the Harvey building, puts into understandable words a thought that may well sustain the spirit of the people who have drainage connections with West Palm Beach for had conditions prevailing elsewhere, I am sure that conditions in the Lake Okeechobee region would be much worse. Mr. McGee had written me for information about conditions here and in replying I tried to be accurate, and the impression the information made on him is shown in his comment.

In one week I furnished information to three persons who had been asked to make talks about the Everglades by various clubs of which they are members. The number and character of these calls for information indicate that the upper Glades is not considered in a way area. No doubt it is true, but Mr. McGee says, that when general business become normal, conditions in this region will be promising, indeed.

A sad lack in the western section of Palm Beach county is facilities for disposal of garbage and other wastes—that shortcoming is even more marked than the lack of drainage. A combination for rainwater can be caught in a tank and canal water can be hauled in a barrel on a truck, but door-to-door collection cannot be expected. Any method is not acceptable if the mud soil is. We are getting by under bad conditions; when these conditions are made proper there will be a great increase in population and new capital can be invited with more expectation that the invitation will be accepted.

In all circles and on all subjects there is coming to be a more correct understanding. One of the things that is coming to be understood is that the kind of vegetation required for different requirements as to moisture, and a terrain that is designed for drainage cannot be expected to be suitable for irrigation, and that no amount of combination, and that no amount of combined drainage and irrigation will serve at the same time for sugar cane, beans and fruit trees. This fact might well be evident to all, yet, it is universally accepted, and the lack of acceptance is a cause of trouble.

The Everglades and the Lake Okeechobee region are not losing in public opinion—every expression of opinion about the country is favorable to it in its present status, and that its prospects in the state of the Jacksonville Times-Union's news columns:

"Florida's gold mine sits in that territory where the Everglades in the opinion of R. B. Allen of New York City, real estate operator who has extensive holdings in the New York state, New Jersey and Massachusetts and owns some Florida property."

Mr. Allen has just completed an automobile tour of the state before going to Muscle Shoals, Ala., where he expects to invest considerable property in the last few years. He is a guest at the Barberidge hotel while in the city.

Mr. Allen sees in the Everglades a great future drainage efforts are made the making of the Florida of the future. "That land is the richest I have ever seen," he declared. "Anything can be raised there, and see it if the agricultural possibilities of that section are limitless."

Florida will hold its position as the nation's playground, Mr. Allen said. "You can take a walk away from Florida, and that's what the citizens of the north are used to, see it if the agricultural possibilities of that section are limitless."

Florida is the president of the R. B. Allen Corporation, sees general business conditions as improving. He thinks that the time is near when the Everglades will be a great place to live and work, and his views not only from his own operations but from contacts with other business executives in the state indicate that his company were much better since the first of the year, expressing the opinion that such a state of affairs is a good index on the general situation.

P. Tomasek, sr., acting temporarily as superintendent of the convict camp near Indian潭, is the father of the representative from Okeechobee county.

ROAD FROM END OF LAKE TO MIAMI OF BIG INTEREST

To Hold Meeting At Belle Glade During Period of County Fair

A delegation from Fort Lauderdale came to the Glades to confer with others from points other than Belle Glade during the ten days of the Everglades Fair and consider the status of State Road No. 29, which connects the east end of Lake Okeechobee to Fort Lauderdale and Miami. This proposal was made at Belle Glade this week in answer to letters from Broward and Dade counties asking for conferences on the road subject.

The legislature has designated a road as a route to be selected by the State Roads Commission, a series of roads down the middle of the state and extend to the lower east coast, and the State Roads Department has made an attempt of making a road out of the section of the road this summer. There is strong desire in Miami and Fort Lauderdale that there be no impediment to the project. A delegation from the Federal Roads Commission has been to the legislature, bridge party and both supper was held at the American Legion hall Tuesday night, and committee cut down town attendance, but there were there a most enjoyable evening and $25 was added to the building fund for the club house to be erected at the city park.

Sign Invites Buyers

An object or much attention this week has been the large sign, 12 feet under construction on the side of the Federer building. It displays a map of Florida, showing roads and towns, and leads to the west end of the lake put way at under 100 feet above sea level. Both Senator Alf Landon and Senator Wagner of New York, member of Congress, as to how Federal aid was to be obtained, and the following telegram was received:

"Method by which road may be designated as Federal highway is as follows: Application must be made first to State Highway Department, then to State Highway Department makes application to secretary of agriculture under whose jurisdiction is Federal road service." Because Florida has not yet completed present road system it would not be possible to make additions to Federal highways at present time but when the road is completed the new Federal highway may be designated by above outlined procedure.

At the present time must be made through the State Road Department, preparation is being made by J. E. Lupper of Kissimmee, the department manager for this section, and application for application, Mr. Lupper has requested B. M. Dunbar, the state highway engineer, to communicate with Sam Wagoner and the other persons who are interested in the matter, and that they be in position to give the application adequate support.

The midstate road would start at a stopgap on state road No. 24 and run through Okeechobee county, continuing down the east side of the lake through Canal Point, Lauderdale, and Fort Lauderdale, DeLand, and Paehokee, to the east coast outlet.

A primary necessity for a midstate road is in part due to the fact that Federal highway No. 1 on the east coast was blocked, traffic to Miami could be accommodated through road 29 by way of Lake Okeechobee.

Reject Martin Claim of Lake-Road Fund

Martin county's contention that part of Lake Okeechobee lies within the boundaries of that county, and therefore a part of the lake's area should be taken to consideration in computing the share of gasoline tax accruing to Martin county, has been rejected by the state correspondence seeking to establish Martin county's claim has been carried on by Evans Cray, attorney for its board of county commissioners with state officials.

Mr. Cray, in his letter to the state, said that he had written to the state, and his views not only from his own operations but from contacts with other business executives in the state indicate that his company were much better since the first of the year, expressing the opinion that such a state of affairs is a good index on the general situation.

BELLE GLADE

Garden Club Meets

The Upper Everglades Garden Club was entertained by the Belle Glade unit at the Everglades Fair and the annual meeting. Out of town guests attending were from Clewiston and South Bay. Detailed plans were worked out for the flower show to be put on in connection with the Everglades fair.

Here are some of our Wonder Why's? Why does never takes part in the class projects? Why does the teacher always stand behind her coat, to be weighed, yesterday? Why Carl Sapp doesn't like pajamas? Why Oiga, Happhra and Eddie have been married since 1928? Why Max Nauman last Sunday? Why Mr. Cox didn't win the contest of the ugliest boy in the Eighth Grade? Why Eugene Johnson last year? Why does the teacher always stand behind her coat, to be weighed, yesterday? Why Carl Sapp doesn't like pajamas? Why Oiga, Happhra and Eddie have been married since 1928? Why Max Nauman last Sunday?

If you can answer these Why's will you please communicate with the president of the class, Fred Jones?

MORE "FREAKS" THAN IN WORLD'S CIRCUSES

"Right" this way folks, for the big show! Ten cents—only thin one time! See the famous Siamese twins, the Bird Girl, Pete Robinson—the famous Living Skeleton. The Flying Sheik who can fly without wings. The Beardie Woman. What's that? Madam? No—she's lost her safety razor. Jeanne, the French Maid. Walter, Half Man, Little Martha. Martha, without arms, Schlitzie—the Pin Head—no she won't stick you!"

No—the circus isn't in town. And no circus ever has gone to town. The world's greatest freaks gathered together from all the sideshows in all the circuses in America and appear in one great and breath-taking aggregation in "Freaks," the greatest Godwin-Mayer's drama of sideshow life, which will open Tuesday at the Prince Theatre.

There are no midgets, dwarfs, or strange human beings in this unusual and gripping picture, which tells a grim tale of a normal woman who makes a midget for a man, and then kills him with the result that she is made the victim of the most horrible form of revenge ever used in a screen story.

The picture, based on Tod Stoddard's play, was directed by Tod Browning of "Dracula" and "The Unholy Three" fame.

He tried to mix business and a girl. Then his troubles began. William Haines in "Min and Bill," Prince Theatre, Sunday and Monday.

Immigration has a price for $2,000, classified and perfect good—but being in a spot where to endorse and cash it meant jail!

It doesn't sound possible, but Will Haines plays the famous get-rich-quick expert in the adventures of the master grifter; Durward, the swindler, and the police constable, makes his first talking picture appearance as the riotous chauffeur; and the saxophone-playing Blackie is played by the popular Leo Hyams, who plays opposite Haines in "Way Out West." "The Girl Said No" and other pictures, is the heroine.

A among comedy highlights are the scenes in which the droll Drolle passes himself off as a state senator; the hoodwinking of the Syria manufacturer; the supercilious attempt of Haines to hide his true identity from the girl he loves.

Two physicians subpoenaed by the state, testified that no statutory offense had been committed. One physician was Dr. T. D. Gunter and Dr. S. J. Sims.

County Solicitor W. E. Roebuck prosecuted and Edgar C. Thompson represented the defendants.

ALTERNATIVE WRIT FOR PROPERTY OWNER ISSUED

An alternative writ of mandamus compelling the county commission to adopt a resolution for the acquisition of certain South Bay property by eminent domain or condemnation was filed yesterday in circuit court March 21, was signed Friday by Judge C. E. Chillingworth, in a suit brought by Mrs. Leon J. Grogan.

Mr. Grogan claimed the county appropriated some of her property about March 10, 1929, and has been using it since for road purposes without condemnation proceedings, and she will be on hand to demand compensation if her suit fails.

On failure to bring condemnation proceedings within the time shown cause why it fails to authorize acquirement by condemnation in a resolution or why it does not start suit as required by law to condemn the property. Mr. Grogan's attorney is attorney for Mrs. Grogan.
